SOUTHEAST

Southeast is constructed of blond brick and white granite. It is made up of so much more . . . a buffalo, a deserted hall, a sunny classroom . . . things that will be missed.

. . . THE PEOPLE

Southeast is its students. Its personality is evident everywhere . . . in a crowded hall, in a busy classroom, in a jammed parking lot . . . but is best expressed in its traditions.

ACADEMICS

years of teaching experience imbues a teacher with a knowledge of material and students.

Principal

A principal of a school must have many good qualities. One may take Dr. Fred G. Addis as a good example of what a principal should be.

Above all, Dr. Addis is conscientious about Southeast. He wants the school to come out ahead in every area of competition. But most important, he strives to provide the very best education for each individual student.

As principal of Southeast High School, Dr. Addis is constantly busy. However, no matter how rushed he is he will always take time to hear the views of his teachers and students.

Vice-Principal

The huge task of enrollment and scheduling is the duty of Mr. O. J. Budd. The vice-principal exercises patience and consideration as he deals with nearly 1800 schedules each semester. A soft spoken man who is concerned about everyone, Mr. Budd was graduated from Olivet, Kansas, high school and received degrees from Emporia State Teachers College and University of Colorado.

Assistant Principal

A high school always has its discipline problems. At Southeast these largely fall to Mr. John Gasper, who manages to maintain order while remaining a favorite with the students. The assistant principal is known for his friendly manner and willingness to discuss problems with students. He has degrees from Kansas State University and University of Wichita. He has served as a principal and coach before coming here.

Counselors

A school would not be complete without the aid of capable counselors to advise the students in many matters. Southeast is fortunate in having Mr. Corwin E. Bare as head counselor and Mrs. June Turner, junior counselor, and Miss Fanny Thompson, sophomore counselor. One of the specific duties of the junior and sophomore counselors is to help students plan their next year schedules. Mr. Bare is responsible for helping seniors plan their college careers. He also supplies much information about job opportunities after graduation.

Principals Informal

The spirit of Southeast is reflected by the understanding attitudes and warmheartedness of its three administrators. It would be easy for a student in a school of 1,800 to feel like an item on a checklist in the mind's eye of its administration, but somehow, these three men find time to give each student the feeling of being an individual.

"May I have your attention for the morning bulletin?" asks Mr. Budd every day.

Dr. Addis enjoys playing with his pet toy poodles in the comfort of his home.

Deeply engrossed is Mr. John Gasper as he checks over permanent records of students, a part of his routine.

Language Arts

Twenty-three teachers staff Southeast's language arts department. Mrs. Helen Christie is head of this mammoth department. Language arts deals with communication; it is no wonder that the language arts department is the largest department at Southeast. A student may take his pick of four foreign languages or improve his speech by debate or drama. Sophomore and junior English classes help the student to develop an appreciation for fine literature, to improve in composition, and to strengthen his grammar. English courses offered to seniors are English Composition, College Reading and English Literature. The graduating student may go on to college or take his place in the business world; whichever his choice, language arts will help him in life.

Fine Arts

Performing in assemblies is only one of the many interesting things that the fine arts department participates in. Under the direction of Mr. Howard Jacob, this department has enabled the interested student to increase his knowledge in the fields of music and art. The work of this department is climaxed every year with a program called "Chimerical Euphony." Drama and dance sometimes participate with fine arts. The music classes won many honors at contests and the art classes should be commended for their excellent work on sets and paintings.

Business

"B" corridor of Southeast is known to most as business hall. Different aspects of the business world are taught by eight teachers. Business courses are a good preparation for the college-bound student or they serve as a fine background for obtaining a good paying job. Business Law classes perform mock trials in an attempt to learn the legal background of our country. Shorthand is useful not only in an office, but as a quick way to take notes. Typing is a must for those going on to college. For the business-minded student there are a total of thirteen courses available. Each one will serve the student well in its capacity. Mr. Marion Morozzo heads the business department. It is his duty to see that "B" corridor runs smoothly.

Social Studies

Since all students are required by the state to take at least two years of social studies, many fine and desirable subjects are offered to the individual. American history is usually taken in the junior year but honors courses are offered in the sophomore and junior years. The government course is taught somewhat on the college level by means of a very large classroom situation. This department employs nine teachers who teach a total of twelve subjects. The department is headed by Mr. Beryl Hamilton.

Mathematics

Many elements make up the rounded curriculum of Southeast. The math department, headed by Miss Clara Peterson, offers all types of courses. A student may range his studies from Algebra I and II to Analytical Geometry. A total of seven different courses are offered. The study of math, no matter what phase, helps the student to organize his thoughts in a logical fashion. There is no limit to the uses of mathematics in everyday life, for it serves as the basis of our business world.

Many of the subjects have taken on a more modern program. In general, there is more student experimentation and less lecturing of teachers.

Homemaking

Future homemakers are fortunate in being able to attend Southeast as it has up-to-date equipment, fine teachers, and good facilities. Many interesting courses are available to the homemaker of tomorrow, such as Family Living, Child Care, Home for Two, and Home Decoration. Homemaking is a very useful subject, for many students in the near future will have homes of thir own. Homemaking also provides good training for careers. Miss Gene Pepperkorn serves as the head of the homemaking department. She is assisted by Mrs. Mary Wulfmeyer. There is a total of eight different courses one may take in the homemaking department.

Industrial Arts

For the person aspiring in the fields of engineering, the industrial arts department offers many fine courses. Mechanical drawing, metals, woodwork, plastics, electricity, auto information, and auto mechanics as well as driver education are included in the curriculum. There are five industrial arts teachers who conduct these courses. The department is most capably headed by Mr. Ralph Schaude.

Girls
Physical Education

Every sophomore and junior girl is required to take two years of physical education in order to graduate. The sophomore girl takes one semester of swimming, which is a state requirement. The junior girl is permitted to choose from a variety of courses, such as team sports, individual sports, and modern dance. Mrs. Janice Wyckoff is head of the girl's gym department. Four other women complete the physical education faculty.

After a hard workout, one needs much, much time to rest and relax as this boy seems to be doing in his gym class.

Square dance time is a good chance for boys and girls to mix. Even gym coaches get in the act.

Boys Physical Education

Skills of particular sports and calisthentics are only a few of the things taught by the Physical Education department. This part of education is vital for the molding of character so the five instructors. headed by Mr. A. R. "Monk" Edwards strive to make the gym period as good and practical as possible. The boys are given excellent chances to develop the skills they learn and to use these skills in the participation of seasonal sports.

Study Hall

Study hall is a haven of rest for many a harassed student. Others find it the noisiest hour of the day. It seems to depend on where the individual sits or how close the nearest "did-you-hear-the-latest" girl is. The spirit of the school is reflected by either a solemn quietness or uproarious laughter heard in a study hall on any given day. For studying purposes, the student is given other places besides the study hall as in extra classroom time. Keeping their eyes on the students and maintaining silence are the main duties of the two study hall teachers, Mr. H. M. Rathmel and Mr. Tommy Cagle.

Tables become loaded with books, papers, and magazines as students prepare their reports.

Library

A good school must be equipped with a good library. The Southeast library is no exception to the rule. One may find books on technical questions, as well as fascinating fictional material. Mrs. Emma Seely, head librarian, is always available to help a student with a question. Mrs. Carmen Ainsworth and Mrs. Louise Stevens are also there to assist the student. The library is stocked with over 10,000 books. To many the library is a place to gain entertainment by means of an enjoyable book. To others, the library offers a source of new and interesting information.

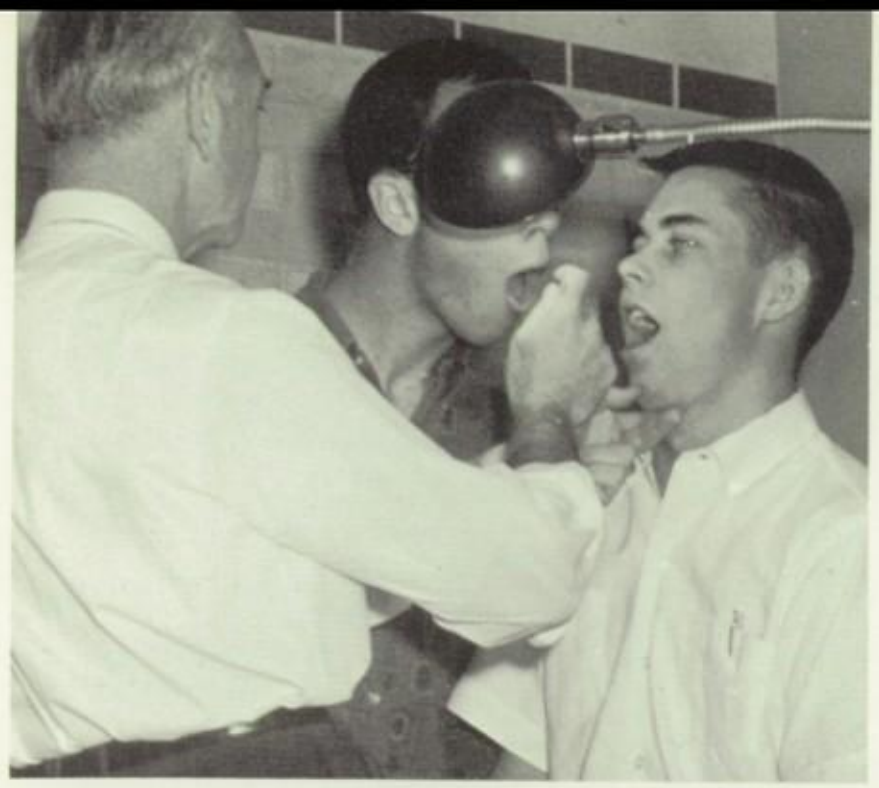
Health Room

"May I go and see the nurse? I don't feel well." Each day many students find themselves becoming ill and ask to go to the health room. The nurse in question is Mrs. Lura Walters. The important job of maintaining the health of those attending Southeast is Mrs. Walters' duty. She runs periodic dental checks and is also available in case of emergency. The health room serves as a place where the student may go in case of illness or when one needs personal advice. Mrs. Walters is an interested listener and can offer sound advice to those who may have problems.



"Let's see your teeth," says the dentist as he inspects the students' teeth for cavities.

Mrs. Ada Clifton

Mrs. Joyce Dunagan

Attendance records, enrollment information, student transcripts and continual information is only a small part of the duties of the office. All day long, people requesting different types of information inquire at the office. There are six women that staff the office. Their jobs range from secretary to PBX operator. Each lady has her specific area and she is the authority of the school in this type of information. Thus it can be said, the office is the nerve-center of Southeast.

Many students each day account for their presence to Mrs. Clifton, attendance clerk.

Mrs. Rita Reiser

The familiar sight of worried students waiting patiently in the office to talk over problems with one of the three counselors is shown below.

Custodians

A school the size of Southeast requires constant care to keep it clean. Mr. Charles Knight heads the efficient custodial staff. It is their duty to see that halls are clean and that extra curricular equipment is set up.

Southeast's cafeteria workers prepare meals for the school's many students each day. Mrs. Frances Wagner and her very able staff work extremely long and hard to make the food for the students and teachers.

Under the supervision of Mr. Martin Pankratz the club sponsors many projects during the year.

German Club

On December 19, 1961, the German Club sponsored a German Christmas party. German music, poems, songs, and movies of the student study trip to Germany last summer entertained the guests. Drama Club

In the past the Drama Club has presented one-acts to the public as an annual project. This year members are entertaining themselves. Members from the advanced Drama classes act as leaders and organize plays, pantomimes, and original skits to present to the club. Also, the advanced students perform scenes of plays. Miss Ruth McCormick sponsors the club.

Picture Operators

Motion Picture Operator Club is a service club organized to operate projectors for teachers, meetings, and assemblies. There are about 500 operators this year. There is no set meeting date, thus the members are able to join other clubs as well. In order to be in the Motion Picture Club, a student must be checked out and qualify as an operator. Roc Creeley is president.

Library Assistants

Library Assistants not only serve the student body, but they also gain valuable experience in library work. The four assistants receive student passes at the door and assist in checking books in and out at the circulation desk. Also shelving books, keeping magazines and reference section in order and helping students find material are other jobs.

Office Assistants

Office assistants, student volunteers, manage to keep busy picking up absence slips, taking call slips, marking and alphabetizing tardy slips and special excuses, looking up telephone numbers and running errands for office workers. They gain insight into how an office is run besides rendering a very valuable service to the school.

National Forensics

National Forensics League is only in its second year at Southeast. The members of the national honorary debate and speech fraternity enjoy discussing debate topics at their monthly meetings. N.F.L. also sends qualified students to district and state speech tournaments.

Fencing Club

Fencing Club is the newest organization at Southeast. Started last fall by a group of interested students, Miss Wilma G. Lee accepted the sponsorship. Since the founding of the club the membership has skyrocketed. A beginners club was started at the semester. Demonstration bouts were presented at basketball games.

Meeting the first Tuesday of each month, Mrs. Jacoby, sponsor, helps the members with their work. The club makes an annual trip to K. U. to visit the University art exhibits.

Thespians

To become a member of Thespians, National Dramatic Society, a student must fulfill the required 10 points. These may be accumulated by having a role in a play or by working on a committee. The club's activities include two initiations as well as sponsoring Community Theater attendance and professional road productions.

Student Commission

Student Commission, which is composed of six elected representatives from each class, met before school once a week this year. Through much hard work and time spent, the commissioners accomplished many things for the benefit of the students; they also aided inter-school relations. One of their most important accomplishments was the realization of the long-awaited and much-discussed student lounge.

Student Manager, Albie Kirk, conducts the student body activities.

Election Commissioners this year are Dan Glickman and Bev Rosen.

Indispensable to the running of the student government are the Commission officers, the student managers and the election commissioners who make possible the election of the officers and representatives. Important, too, are the lounge committee members and the all-school project chairman.

Assistant Student Manager this year is Chuck Warner, junior.

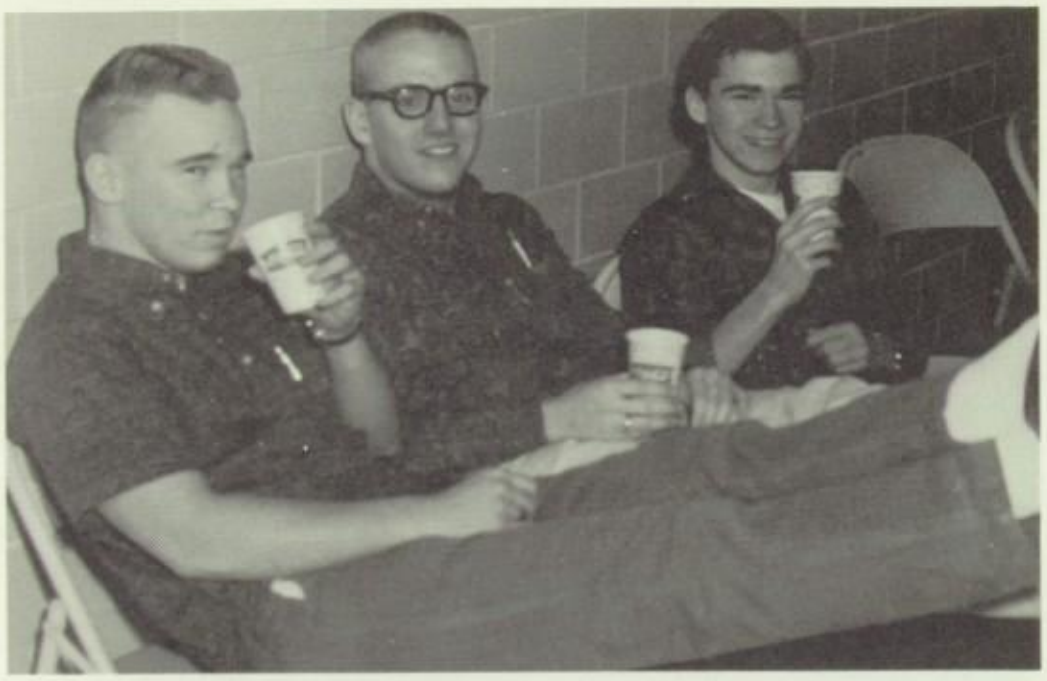
Assemblies

Nearly every Thursday and some Tuesdays Southeast students file in the auditorium second hour for an assembly of some type. Some are of a very serious nature dealing with polio and cancer. Renowned speakers are often scheduled to speak. Class assemblies are possibly the most entertaining. Each of the three classes presents its talent in many acts. Holidays always call for a special assembly. The audience joins in singing Christmas carols at the Christmas one. Easter vespers is one of the more religious assemblies. Students are given a preview of plays and music concerts at some assemblies. Parents are welcome to come and see their children perform. Student manager and assistant preside.

Roxie Gleissner, chairman of the school's annual polio drive, speaks at an assembly.

These pupils were called from the audience at the atomic energy assembly to scientifically track "tagged" atoms.

Varied expressions are shown on faces of this assembly audience.



Southeast's newest attraction, the Student Lounge, is a favorite gathering place for students at lunchtime.

Student Lounge

Students at Southeast needed something new to do after they had enjoyed their meals in the cafeteria. The Student Commission appointed Mary Meek to head the "what to do" committee and the idea of a student lounge was suggested. This year, for the first time in Wichita, the student lounge was arranged in the Southeast auditorium foyer where it met with great student acceptance.

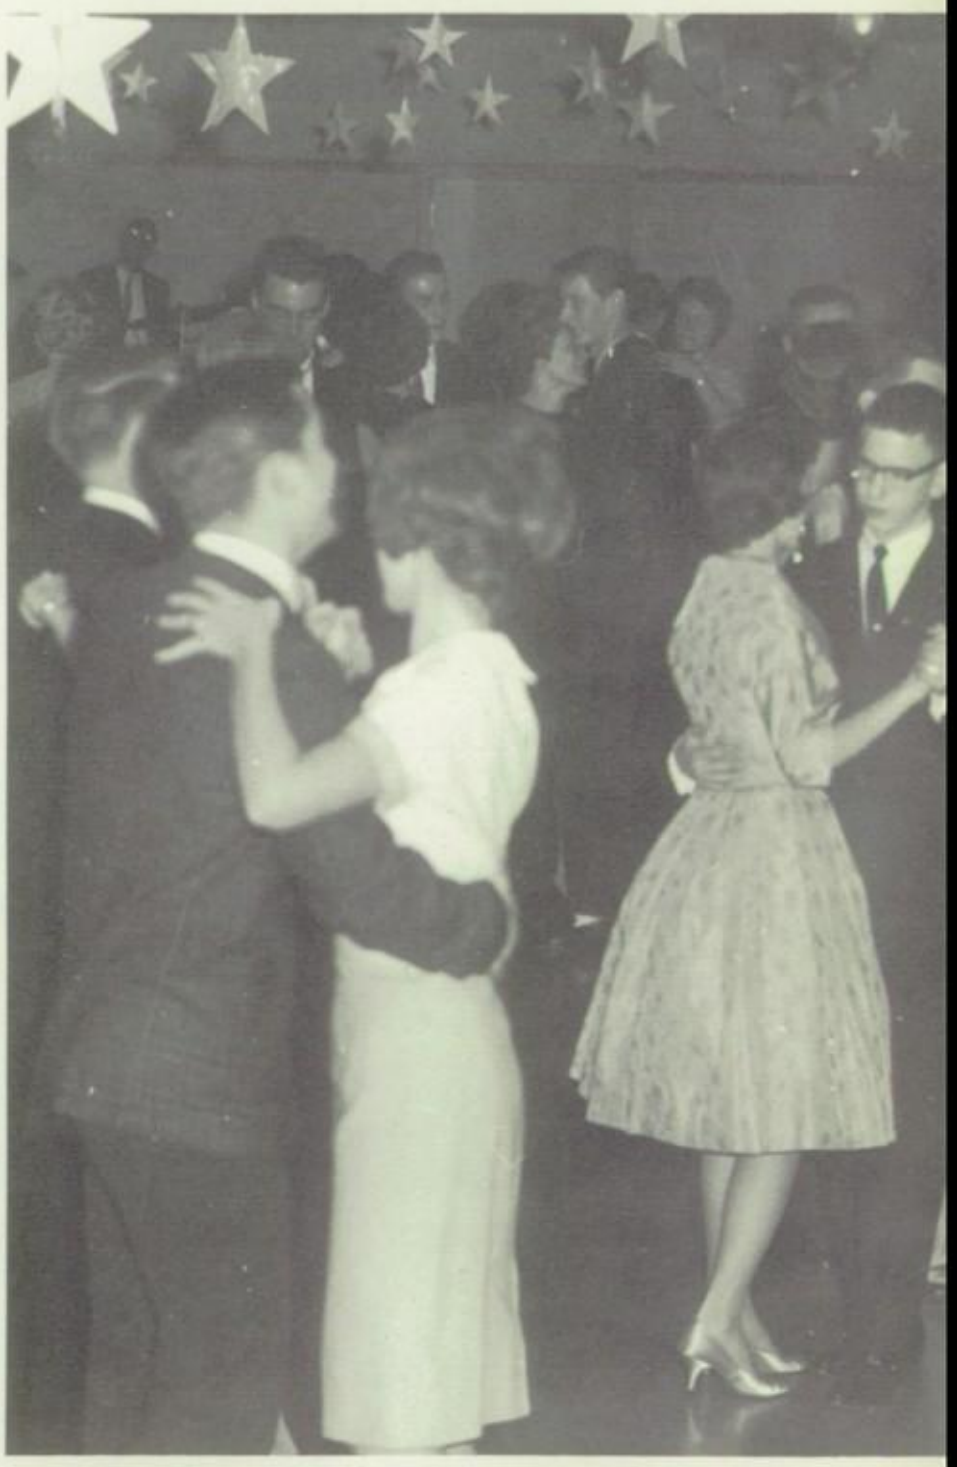
The many dances after football games were great places to hear the latest.

Alumni flocked to the homecoming dance, bringing their talk of colleges, fraternities, dorm life, and grades.

Dances

"Midwinter Nights' Dream," football and basketball dances, and twisting parties are among those dances which will long be remembered by students in looking over 1961-62. Southeast students were quick to pick up the latest dance crazes.

Seniors Ron Hull and Terry Ridley twisted to first place in a post-game twisting contest.



Glittering stars swung over dancing couples at the romantic "Midwinter Night's Dream."

Homecoming

Marsha Ballard was crowned queen at Southeast's homecoming game and reigned at the dance which followed. Marsha was crowned homecoming queen by Don Davis. Her attendants, Terry Ridley and Sandy Mueller, were escorted by Bob Wellman and Rick Snodgrass. Twelve senior girls were nominated for queen by the football team and the finalists were decided on by vote of the entire student body.

Taking the most thrilling walk of her life, Cathy Speer approaches her throne as queen.

Basketball Sweetheart

Crowned 1962 Basketball Sweetheart amidst the excitement of the last game of the season was Cathy Speer. Cliff Warner placed the traditional rhinestone crown on Queen Cathy against the background of a gigantic red heart. Elected as Sweetheart from twelve senior girls nominated by the basketball team, Cathy was attended by the other two finalists, Terry Ridley and Mary Meek.

Junior-Senior Prom

Snow outside was slowly melting, becoming a thing of the past. Inside the Cotillion Ballroom, amidst the bright lights and music, something else was becoming a thing of the past—the wonderful Junior-Senior Prom. Snowflakes emphasized the "Winter Rhapsody" theme. Reigning as king and queen were Scott Taylor and Karen Price. Attendants were Jane Utter, Tom Scanlin, Sandy Mueller, Bruce Chatley, Cathy Addy, Chuck Warner, Dana Griffin, and Wally Hinshaw.

The finale brings the full cast onto the stage to end Southeast's most elaborate fine arts production. In the background is one of the many sets designed for the program by Larry King.

'Plain and Fancy'

"Plain and Fancy" was the first musical to be presented by the joint efforts of the music, drama, and art classes. This Broadway comedy is about two New Yorkers visiting an Amish community. The situation which develops brings both laughs and tears. The play ran three nights and a special benefit performance was given.

Junior Play

"Ask Any Girl," a rollicking comedy in three acts, was presented on the second and third of March by junior dramatists under the direction of Miss Ruth McCormick. The play centers around a small-town girl who leaves her home for the dazzle and excitement of New York, "the city of males."

Four residents of the girls' hotel anxiously wait to participate in a cigarette poll.

The male lead Gene Bowers delivers a loud oration to Bobbi Nance, the feminine lead.

Choraleers, Madrigal singers, and the boys' quartet of the music department, special art production, and drama classes teamed up on the musical production, "Plain and Fancy." Mr. James Hershberger, director of the choral groups, auditioned the present members last year. Singing for assemblies, civic groups, church gatherings, and other schools keeps the music groups continually striving to enlarge their repertoire and improve their tone and quality. Praised highly for their successful performances, Southeast singers have earned an envied reputation. Although forced to keep a tight schedule, public appearances are enjoyed.

Band

"Introducing Southeast High School Gold and White Band under the direction of Howard Jacob." This year the band performed in several concerts, assemblies, and entered the city-wide festival. An off-spring of the band was the new pep band. Jaunty berets and gold vests added to the colorfulness of this group as members played for basketball games and special occasions. The twirlers not only performed at football games but also for basketball half-time shows. They had unusual costumes for routines, and they did special programs.

Debate

Debaters found much to keep them busy this year, as they attended a total of seventeen meets. Unfortunately they only won one of the meets and lost their most important meet, the District, where Wally Brown, Kay Patterson, and Bob Jackson represented Southeast. A total of twenty-seven students were in debate this year, instructed by Mr. William Nelson in two classes, A for the experienced, and B for novice debaters. Eric Park, junior, and Bob Jackson, also a junior, were the only award winners in debate this year.

Stampede

Both the fourth and fifth hour journalism classes publish the Stampede every other week, alternately. The first semester editors for the paper were Jane Utter and Joanie Robertson. Second semester editors were Nancy Scott and Dave Tilford. The Sept. 29, 1961, issue of the Stampede was the first lesson in newspaper work for most of the students. Writing news, feature, and sports stories was found to be very different from the writing commonly done in English classes. A few of the new techniques to be learned by the novices concerned writing headlines, cutlines, editorials, and sport stories.

Hoofbeats

The members of the 1962 Hoofbeats staff were selected by Mike Bird, editor, who applied for his position at the beginning of the school year. All the members worked tediously, both during and after school, preparing copy for their many deadlines. Hoofbeats' first deadline date was in December, and final copy was submitted during the month of March. This year's staff, comprised of senior journalism students, has made plans to publish its second annual summer supplement. Supplements should arrive by mail during the month of July at each student's home who subscribed to the 1962 summer supplement.

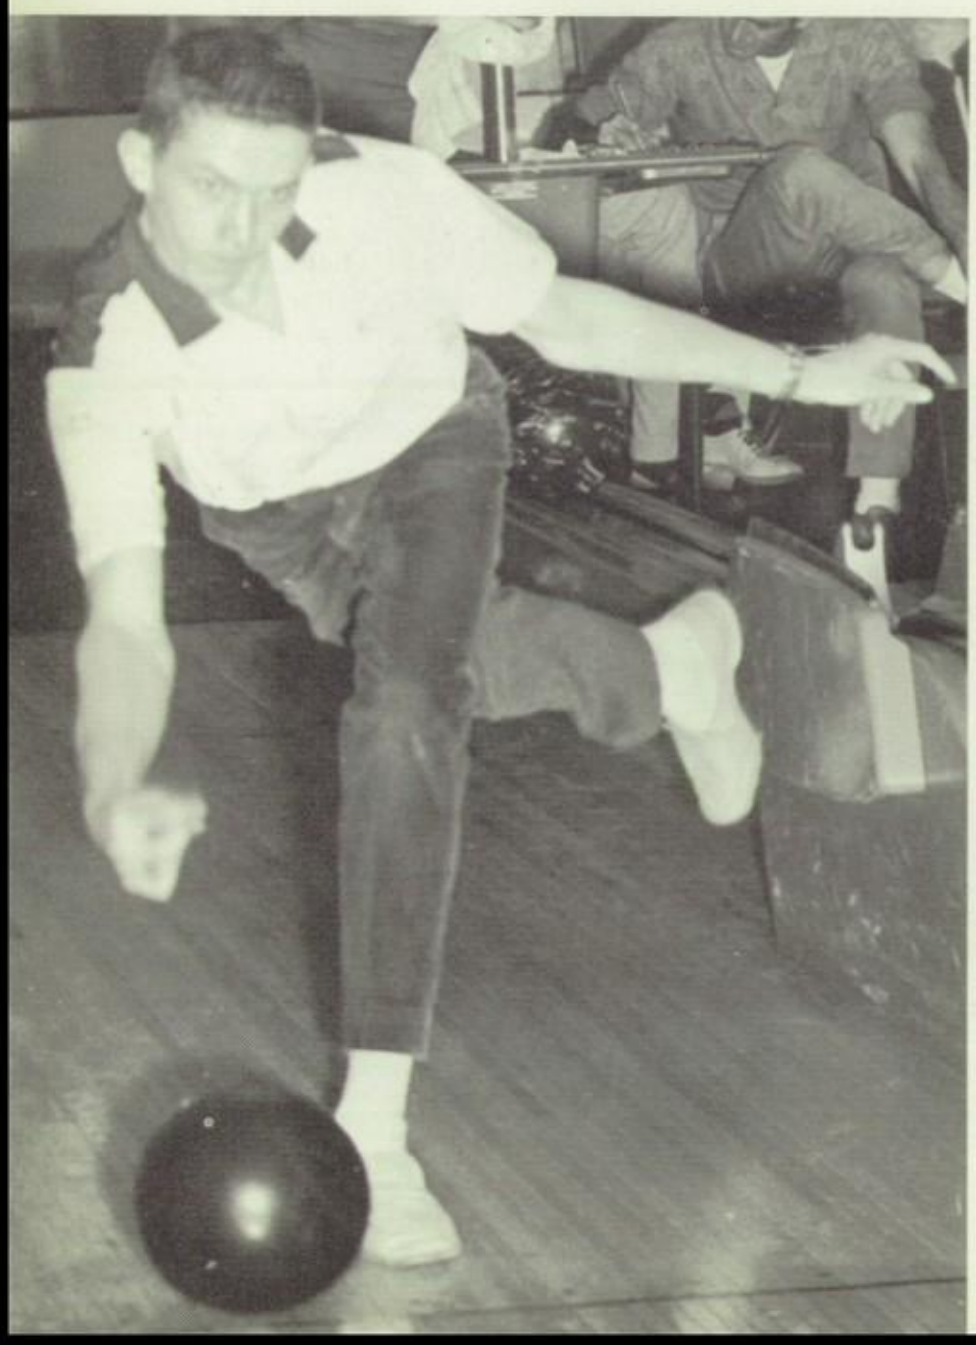
Intramurals

Intramural sports expanded for the first time to include such sports as basketball, tennis, volleyball, touch football, ping-pong, and bowling. To help improve the opportunities for year-round participation, Mr. John Zumalt, business teacher, became the official organizer for all intramural sports. The new intramural program was welcomed by many boys who enjoyed hours of after-school recreation.

Winning the intramural league earned the Bophz a chance to scrimmage the varsity.

Bill Ryan, junior, displays the form that posted the best intramural bowling game.



Robert Smith puts the "English" into a ping-pong ball.

SPORTS

After . . .
the final gun sounds, teammates are deliriously happy over their well-earned victory.

"Monk" Edwards, the director of athletics, has time for a smile.

Southeast's Finest Year in Athletics

Talking the year over are Mr. George Bequette, Mr. Don Lamb, Mr. Jim Tangeman, and Mr. Marvin Vandaveer.

Southeast's greatest sports year was rewarded by these trophies, won in the fall and winter.

The excellent coaching staff at Southeast was primarily responsible for the victorious seasons which were posted this year. Heading up the athletic department is Mr. A. R. "Monk" Edwards. Coaching football, gymnastics, and baseball is Mr. Marvin Vandaveer. Football, basketball, and track is coached by Mr. Don Lamb. Mr. Jim Tangeman coaches football, basketball, and tennis. New to the athletic department this year is Mr. George Bequette, who coaches football, wrestling, and golf.

Six out of the eleven starters on Southeast's championship football team received athletic scholarships to various universities. Winning scholarships were Don Davis, K.U.; Rick Snodgrass, K.U.; Tom Kennett, K-State; Bob Wellman, K-State; Gary Casement, W.U.; Jim Thornburg, Sterling.

Golden Buffaloes Win City League Championship

Sparkling on offense and defense alike, the 1961 Southeast Golden Buffaloes had the greatest year in football in the short history of the school. The Buffs compiled a record of seven wins, one loss, and one tie. They became the first Southeast football team to win the Wichita Public High School League football championship. The Golden Buffaloes, who at one time were ranked fourth in the state, were ranked tenth at the end of the season. This winning football team was coached by Marvin Vandaveer who now holds a 19-7-1 record at Southeast.

The Buffs opened their season on a promising note when they soundly stomped Kapaun 19-0. After rolling up impressive victories over Hutchinson, Blackwell, and West, the Buffs developed into a well oiled football machine with a smashing 41-0 triumph over a good Shawnee Mission East squad. Then came the climax of the season, the hard fought victory over East. The Buffs captured the win by scoring a touchdown on a fullback plunge and adding the extra point. Although the Aces came within inches of a tie, and even had a good closing shot at victory, the Golden Buffaloes held, and the game ended 7-6. Southeast finished up its year with a heartbreaking loss to a tough Ponca City outfit, a mud-soaked win over North, and an anticlimactic 12-12 tie with South. This tie, however, gave the Buffs an unprecedented city title. No one will ever forget the mounting excitement of each early season win, or the wild celebration after the East game, or the disappointment after Ponca City.

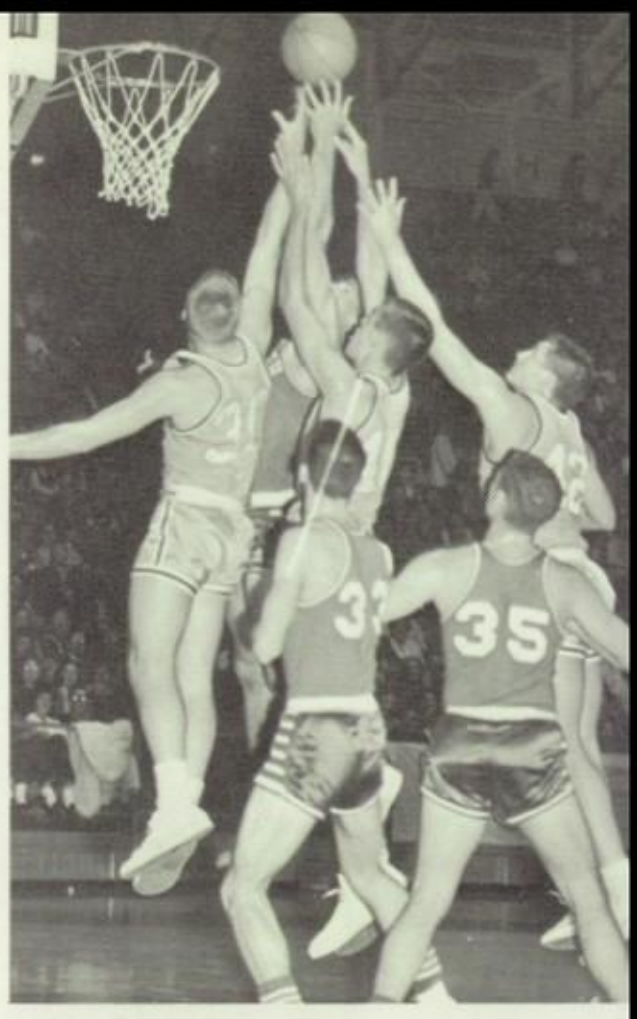
Buff Cagers Post 13-9 Record

For the third consecutive year the Southeast Basket Buffs posted their best won-lost record in history. This year's team had 11 lettermen, four of whom will return to play next year. The Buffs were plagued by untimely injuries at the first of the year, which seriously hurt the team's scoring punch and city league chances. Southeast stalwarts for the '61-'62 season were Gary Casement, top rebounder and all-city second team; John Criss, leading scorer and playmaker, named to all-city first team; Bruce Chatley, co-captain; Cliff Warner, tough rebounder and excellent shot; and Terry Kennett, one of the Buffs' best junior prospects. These boys were well supported by Don Davis, Tom Fairchild, Larry Cobble, Bob Hicks, Wally Hinshaw, and Gary Holland. Against non-league competition, Southeast racked up a sparkling 11-2 record. However, in the powerful Wichita Public High School League, the Buffs could manage only fourth place and a 2-7 record against Wichita schools. The biggest win of the year was made in city play when Southeast upset unbeaten Wichita East 65-44. East was ranked first in the state at the time. Nobody can doubt that this was basketball's best season at Southeast.



Three Buff cagers go high for the rebound against North.

Now in its third year at Southeast, cross country has become an important sport. Much more interest was shown in the sport this year. The team, although it didn't measure up to previous standards, had no returning lettermen, and was composed primarily of sophomores and juniors. Aptly coaching the team for the second year was Mr. Ed Morton.

Members of the 1961 Southeast cross country team are, left to right, first row: Bill Fritzemeier, Bruce Chatley, Richard Hendrich, Rick Smith, Bill Stegman, Steve Dilbeck. Second row: Jack Allen, Dick Hillman, Doug Miller, Max Bolene, Tom McClarnon, Tim Carter, John Kegley, manager. Third row: Max Ellena, Herb Hopper, Al Riling, Jay Allen, Coach Ed Morton.

Darren Paige is executing a difficult maneuver on the side horse, an unusual gymnastics apparatus.

Gymnastics Take 4th in State

Experience led the way for the Southeast gymnastics team this year. Lettermen Larry Cary, Don Gibson, Stony Grisham, Darren Paige, and Roger Pitts led the team to victory in four meets. Grisham placed second in the state in the horizontal bar and the rings. Paige took second in the side horse. A number of novices got in a good deal of experience as they also competed in the meets. Ably coaching the squad for the second year was Marvin Vandaveer. It would appear that the team will have a more successful season next year as it gains in depth and experience.

Tom Potts does his routine in preparation for a meet.

Water Buffs Surge to Second in State

This was the year for the Water Buffaloes from Southeast. They posted the best swimming record for any team at Southeast. The Water Buffs won all but three regular meets, placed second in the city, and second in the state. No team from Southeast has ever placed so high in the state in any sport. While placing first in the state, Jack Allen set a new state record. In order to do so well, the team had to work consistently hard throughout the season. Coach Ed Morton was a big factor behind the team's winning efforts. Through his efforts, the swimmers were prepared for the rigorous season of competition. The boys on the swimming team set a new landmark in Southeast history.

Two Wrestlers Compete at State Meet

Lack of experience held back the wrestling squad this year as they won only two meets during the season. Two wrestlers, Jim Hill and Corky Lewis, advanced all the way to the state meet where both lost close matches in the first round. Coaching the team this year was Mr. George Bequette, in his first year at the helm.

Juniors Greet Senior Year Traditionally

A tradition at Southeast is for each junior to have his class ring turned outward by a senior on the last day of school. Darwin Cline is proudly turning Terri Anderson's.

SENIORS

seniors leave, never to return . . . filled with both sadness and joy as they step out to face the outside world.

Senior officers are: Phil Eastep, sergeant-at-arms; Susie Marshall, treasurer; Mimi Caldwell, secretary; Tom Fairchild, president; and Rick Snodgrass, vice-president.
